IWPI 2018

The 6th International Workshop on Processes Intensification

7 – 8 November 2018
Taipei

Cheng Jiang Hall
National Taiwan University

Hosted by
Department of Chemical Engineering
National Taiwan University

IWPI Series

Kobe (2006) Tokyo (2008) Fukuoka (2010)
Seoul (2012) Manchester (2016) Taipei (2018)

Call for Papers

Prospective participants should send two-page extended abstract via email to conference assistant Vincent Chang (wschang@ntu.edu.tw).

Please address any request or question to IWPI 2018 NOC Chair, Prof. Cheng-Liang Chen (CCL@ntu.edu.tw), or Secretary, Prof. Dun-Yen Kang (dunyen@ntu.edu.tw).

For more details please see: <http://IWPI2018.org>

Aims and Scope

IWPI is a biennial international conference.

IWPI 2018 is the 6th workshop following previous events at Kobe (2006), Tokyo (2008), Fukuoka (2010), Seoul (2012), and Manchester (2016). This workshop provides an interactive platform for researchers to exchange knowledge in the state of the art of process intensification from the perspectives of theory, modeling, new technologies, and emerging materials. Main topics for this workshop include:

- Fundamentals of Phenomenon Based Intensification
- Integrated Process Intensification
- Emerging Materials for Process Intensification
- Energy, Reaction, and Environmental Engineering
- Separation and Purification Technology
- Micro Reactors and Its Applications
- Batch and Continuous Production
- Modelling and Process Control
- Symposium for Young ChemE Researchers for facilitating collaboration and strengthening connections among young generation
- Student Poster Session

Keynote Speakers

Ryuichi Yatomi	JP	Sumitomo Heavy Industries Process Equipment
Woo-Sik Kim	KR	Kyung Hee University
Kuo-Lun Tung	TW	National Taiwan University
Jie Wu	AU	CSIRO, Australia

Important Dates

Abstract (2 pages)	1 March - 30 June 2018
Acceptance Notification	31 July 2018
Early-bird Registration	30 Sep 2018

Non-student: US$ 300
Student: US$ 150

IWPI 2018

7-8 Nov 2018

Venue

The conference venue will be located in the Cheng Jiang Hall — one new building for the Dept. of Chemical Engineering, National Taiwan University.

The Department will arrange a guided tour of the building.
